Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology Information

Application fees are based on the length of time the initial license will be valid.

Full Initial Licensure Fees are required for licenses issued August 1st of odd-numbered years through December 31st of the following even-numbered year.

Reduced Initial Licensure Fees are required for licenses issued January 1st of odd-numbered years through July 31st of the same odd-numbered year.

All initial licenses expire on December 31st of odd numbered years.

There are three methods for applying for licensure. Review the methods described below and select the appropriate based on your credentials.

Endorsement based on a Certificate: If you have a current Certification of Clinical Competence from American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) or a current Board Certification in Audiology from the American Board of Audiology (ABA) this is the easiest and quickest method to obtain your license.

Evaluation of Credentials: This method requires that you provide an official transcript that shows the conferral of a master's degree or a doctorate, a passing score on the national examination, and the submission of documentation from your supervisor(s) regarding your post-graduate clinical experience. Since this method requires more documents, this licensure process generally takes longer than the previous method.

Endorsement from U.S. State/Territory: This method takes the most documentation and as a result this is the most difficult method of licensure and takes the longest to complete.

First, you must submit a verification that you hold an active license in another state which can serve as the basis for your application for licensure by endorsement. If that license was granted due to grandfathering, endorsement, or reciprocity it may not qualify as a basis for licensure in Florida.

Then you will need to provide a copy of the rules and statutes that outlined the criteria for licensure in the state or territory where your license was issued at the time that your license was issued. Copies of the current rules and laws are not acceptable.

Finally, the criteria in that other state or territory at the time you were licensed will be compared with the requirements for licensure in Florida at that time. If it is determined that the criteria in the other state were substantially similar or more stringent than the criteria that existed in Florida at the time the license was issued, you can qualify for licensure under this method. This comparison is based on state requirements, not your credentials. Determination that the criteria are substantially equivalent generally requires a hearing before the full board which can further delay licensure under this method.
